SEE THE LABEL ON THE TOP OF EACH BOTTLE OF HEIMSTREET'S INIMITABLE
HAIR RESTORATIVE
Has the Signatures of the Proprietors,
W. E. HAGAN & Co.
Every article which has a large and increasing sale like this is liable to be counterfeited. It is its name indicated, entirely "INIMITABLE," as far as its power to restore the Hair on bald heads, and to give it the color of youth, (no matter how gray it may be,) is concerned.
USE NO OTHER RESTORATIVE
BUT HEIMSTREET'S.
It is the original, the only reliable, and the cheapest.—See the following testimony:
JACKSON, MISS., May 29, 1860.
W. R. MERVIN, of Market street, St. Louis, Mo., Advertising Agent for Heimstreet's Hair Restorative.
DEAR SIR: The Medicines you introduced into our city last having a large sale, and giving in every case satisfaction. Mr. James Henderson (one of our first citizens) says, that "he has used all of the Hair Dyes and Restoratives of the day, but has never used an article equal to Heimstreet's INIMITABLE HAIR RESTORATIVE. That it has surpassed all preparation that he has ever tried for restoring the Hair of the bald and gray to its original luxuriance and beauty."
You can write the Proprietors, W. E. HAGAN & Co., Troy, N. Y., that they have the cheapest and best Hair Restorative in our market, and that it gives satisfaction in every case.
Respectfully yours,
J. S. SIZER, Wholesale Druggist.

THERE IS NO USE
INTRODUCING TESTIMONIALS,
Altho' we have very many of them,
FOR THE MAGNOLIA BALM.
For when the face is covered with unsightly Pimples or Blisters, the sufferer cares only to be directed to use some safe and reliable remedy.
THE MAGNOLIA BALM
WILL CURE THE WORST
CASE OF PIMPLES IN A SINGLE WEEK
It is so safe a remedy that the contents of a bottle may be used without harm. Physicians look upon wonder upon its speed, cures, for it has heretofore been thought absolutely necessary to use preparations of lead or mercury to cure pimples, and these have done much harm. The MAGNOLIA BALM contains neither. It is the most elegant and nearly put up article for sale anywhere, and may be obtained of all our Apothecaries and Fancy Goods Dealers.
Price Fifty Cents a Bottle.

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

Nat. GATHER, Jr., Esq., Secretary of State, delivered to the House the following message from the Governor:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, Dec. 5, 1861.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives: I herewith lay before you House a letter of inquiry from the Hon. S. P. Chase, Secretary of the United States Treasury, in regard to the assumption of the direct tax of the Federal Government by the State of Kentucky, and recommend the matters therein contained for your consideration.

B. MAGOFFIN.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT, Nov. 29, 1861.

SIR: I have the honor to call your attention to the act of 6th August, 1861, levying a direct tax and apportioning it among the several States. The amount apportioned to the State of Kentucky is $713,636.324.

The 5th section of the act provides: "That any State or Territory, and the District of Columbia, may lawfully assume, assess, collect, and pay into the Treasury of the United States the direct tax, or its quota thereof, imposed by this act upon the State, Territory, or District of Columbia, in its own way and manner, by and through its own officers, assessors, and collectors; and any such State, Territory, or District, which shall give notice by the Governor, or other proper officer thereof, to the Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, on or before the second Tuesday of February next, of its intention to assume and pay, or to assess, collect, and pay, into the Treasury of the United States, the direct tax imposed by this act, shall be entitled to a deduction of fifteen per centum on the quota of direct tax apportioned to such State. Provided, however, That the deduction shall only be made to apply to such part or parts of the same as shall have been actually paid into the Treasury of the United States on or before the last day of June, in the year in which such payment is made."

Will you inform me, at the earliest practicable period, whether the authorities of Kentucky will assume and pay the amount of direct tax apportioned to that State by the existing law? and also, whether, in case of any change in the law, by which a different and perhaps larger amount shall be apportioned to the State, the authorities will probably assume and pay it?

I am, very respectfully,

S. P. CHASE,

Secretary of the Treasury.

His Excellency, BERNIAH MAGOFFIN, Governor of Kentucky.

Mr. FINLEY offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the Judiciary Committee be instructed to inquire into the facts, whether clerks and assessors have performed official services required by provisions of an act, entitled "An act to reorganize the Kentucky Militia," approved March 4th, 1860, and whether there exists, in the present laws, any legal authority by which those services were rendered to be paid; and if no legal authority exists for the payment of those services so performed, that the said committee be instructed to introduce a bill providing for payment.

Mr. OWINGS moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Upon which motion the yeas and nays were taken, resulting yeas 19, nays 52.

So the House refused to lay the resolution on the table, and it was then referred.

Resolutions offered by Mr. BARNES in relation to the arrest of Gov. C. S. Morehead and others. Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

A bill establishing certain holidays. Rejected.

A bill amending the militia law, with an amendment by the Senate, which was concurred in.

BY CONSENT.

Mr. BURNS offered the following resolution, which was referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, and ordered to be printed:

1. Resolved by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, That liberty of speech and of the press are rights guaranteed and protected to our citizens by the organic law of our land, and the Federal Government, or its subordinate officers, have no right to interfere with either the right to discuss the Government, and its policy, or our Federal and State Governments, and to arraign their action before the people, is a constitutional right, which is given to every citizen of the United States.

2. That the President of the United States has no right to suspend the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus—that power can only be exercised by Congress; and the plea of necessity, which is urged; and the plea of grant as an apology for the exercise of that power, is the plea of a usurper, and ought to meet with the unanimous condemnation of the American people.

3. That the arrest by the General Government, or its subordinate officers, of citizens of Kentucky, their abduction and transportation beyond the jurisdiction of the State, to be incarcerated in the military forts and public prisons without warrant of law, or an opportunity for a trial, is a subversion of personal right, and a most flagrant violation of the Constitution of the United States and the constitution of Kentucky.

4. That the sentiments expressed by Mr. John Cochrane, and endorsed by Mr. Cameron, to arm the slaves of the South against the masters of the South, is a proposition too monstrous and barbarous to be uttered by any citizen in a civilized country, and the retaining these gentlemen in their high positions, is an indication that the present Administration approves the sentiments by them expressed; and this action on the part of the Federal Government should meet with the immediate and unqualified condemnation of the people of Kentucky.

5. That the right of the people to hold slaves is a State right, protected by the Constitution of the United States; and any attempt by the Federal Government, or its subordinate officers, to interfere with the relations of master and slave, as they now exist, would be an act of usurpation unparalleled in the history of our country, and would meet with the resistance of the united people of Kentucky.

6. That the propositions of Messrs. Elliott and Stevens, recently introduced by them in the Congress of the United States, to emancipate the slaves in the South by the action of the Federal Government, is a proposition which the people of Kentucky will never submit to, and to which we will resist under all circumstances and to the last extremity.

7. That during the progress of this war the military should be subservient to the civil power, and the civil power should be subordinate to the civil authority.

8. That, in the language of the Declaration of Independence, "governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of the ends for which it was instituted, it is the right of the people to alter and abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

9. That as the domestic institutions of the South are incompatible with the views and feelings of the North, and to restore peace to our distracted country, we recommend that the seceding States, or so many as may desire to do so, may be permitted to establish a separate Government; that hostilities cease; that treaties mutually reciprocal and beneficial between the two Governments be made, that happiness, quietude, and peace may again be enjoyed by the people of our beloved country.

10. That the people of Kentucky will not unite themselves with any Government, people who revolt, as a principle of that Government, or as a necessity to sustain it, that the slaves should be emancipated, or that they should be armed for its support and preservation.

Mr. YEAMAN offered the following amendment, which was also referred:

"And by this is intended to include the armies of the Confederate States now in Kentucky."

And then the House adjourned.

The Lazy Man's Paradise.

In Lieut. Gibson's account of his explorations of the valley of the Amazon, or rather of one of its main branches, the Madeira river, (executive document, No. 36), from the Pacific side, we find the following account of the daily life of a Creole family in the town of Santa Cruz, the capital of the Bolivian Department of that name. For a lazy man, Santa Cruz de Bolivia must be a perfect paradise, to say nothing of the chance a bachelor has of being able to secure a marriage in a city where there are five women to one man.

"Very early in the morning the Creole, getting out of bed, throws himself upon a hammock; his wife stretches herself upon a bench near by, while the children seat themselves, with their legs under them, on the chairs—all in their night dresses. The Indian girl enters with a cup of chocolate for each member of the family. After which, she brings some coals of fire, and a silver dish. The wife lights for her husband a cigar, then one for herself. Some time is spent in reclining, chatting, and regaling. The man slowly puts on his cotton trousers, woolen coat, leather shoes, and Vienna hat, with his neck opened to the fresh air—silk handkerchiefs are scarce—then he walks to some near neighbor, with whom he again drinks chocolate, and smokes another cigar.

"At mid-day a small low table is set in the centre of the room, and the family go to breakfast. The wife sits next to her husband. The women are very pretty, and affectionate to their husbands. He chooses her from among five, there being about that number of women to one man. The children seat themselves, and the dogs form a ring behind. The first dish is a couple of potatoes with a large piece of meat. The man helps himself first, and throws his bones straight across the table; a child dogs his head to give it a free passage, and the dogs rush after it as it falls upon the ground floor. A child then throws his bone, the mother dog, and the dogs rush behind her. The second dish contains small pieces of beef without bones. The dogs are now fighting. Next comes a dish of finely chopped beef, finally, coffee and chocolate. After breakfast the man pulls off his coat and trousers, and lies down in the hammock. His wife lights him a cigar. She then finds her way to bed, with a cigar. The dog lies down on the chair—the fleas bite them on the ground. The Indian girl closes the doors and windows, and takes the children out to play, while the rest of the family sleep.

"At two, P. M., the church bells ring to let the people know the priest was saying a prayer for them, which means they are to get up. The man raises his hand above his head and yawns; the dogs get down and whiningly separate themselves; while the wife sits up in the bed and loudly calls for fire; the Indian girl reappears with a 'chunk' for her mistress to light her master another cigar, and she smokes again herself. The dinner, which takes place between three and five, is nearly the same as breakfast, except when a beef is recently killed by the Indians, when they have a boil. The ribs and other long bones of the animal are trimmed of flesh, leaving the bones coated with meat; these are laid across a fire and roasted; the members of the family, while employed with them, look as if they were practicing music.

"A horse is brought into the house by an Indian man, who holds while the 'patron' bridges and saddles him; he then puts on a large pair of silver spurs, which cost forty dollars, and mounting, he rides out of the front door to the opposite house; halting, he takes off his hat and calls out 'buenas tardes, señoras!', 'good evening, ladies.' The ladies make their appearance; one lights him a cigar, another three or four, and a third takes herself after the ride. He remains in the saddle, talking, while they lean gracefully against the door posts, smiling with their bright eyes. He touches his hat and rides off to another neighbor. After spending the afternoon in this way, he rides into his house again. The Indian holds the horse by the bridle while the master dismounts. Taking the saddle, he throws into one chair, the bride into another, his spurs on a third, and himself into a hammock, the Indian leads out the horse, the dogs pull down the riding gear to the floor, and lay themselves on their usual bedsteads. Chocolate and cigars are repeated.

XXXVIITH CONGRESS—First Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.

SENATE.—Mr. Rice asked permission to record his vote (yea) on the expulsion of Breckinridge, as he was absent yesterday. Granted.

Mr. Sumner presented a petition from the citizens of Haverhill, Mass., that the slaves of rebels be liberated unconditionally, and the slaves of Union men on fair payment.

Mr. Chandler offered a resolution to appoint a committee of three to inquire into the disasters of Bull Run and Edward's Ferry.

Mr. Lane, of Kansas, moved to amend by inserting Springfield, Wilson's Creek, and Lexington.

Mr. Chandler said he hoped the resolution would not be amended.

Mr. Lane said the man most entitled to honor had been punished at Wilson's Creek. He was sacrificed and perished because he was not relieved when he could have been. The people want to know whether the gallant Gen. Lyon was sacrificed. They want to know why regiments were sent to Cairo instead of his relief, and why the army moved at a snail's pace to reinforce Col. Mulligan at Lexington. The people wanted to know the names of those who permitted those things, and in his (Lane's) opinion, they would not have to look far for the man who permitted the sacrifice of Gen. Lyon. Lane's amendment was disagreed to.

Mr. Grimes offered a substitute to appoint a committee of two members of the Senate and three members of the House, to investigate the causes of the disasters to our arms.

On motion of Mr. Fessenden, the subject was postponed until to-morrow.

Mr. Wilson gave notice that he should, to-morrow, introduce a bill to abolish sutlers in the volunteer forces.

Mr. Grimes moved to take up the resolution to investigate the case of Col. Miles. He said a court of inquiry had found that Col. Miles was innocent, and to do so, he had to justify Col. Richardson in applying epithets to him, but not enough to remove him from command. He wanted all the facts of the case to go to the people. Resolution agreed to.

Mr. Trumbull introduced his bill for confiscating the property and giving freedom to the slaves of rebels. He said it provides for the absolute and complete forfeiture forever to the United States of every species of property, real and personal, wherever situated within the United States, belonging to persons beyond the jurisdiction of the United States, or beyond reach of civil process in the ordinary mode of judicial proceeding, in consequence of the present rebellion, who, during its existence, shall take up arms against the United States, or in any way aid or abet the rebellion. This bill is to be in full in the property in the rebellious districts through the military power, and all property of other portions of the United States, where the judicial power is not obstructed by the rebellion, through the courts; and that the proceeds of the property of each individual seized and forfeited be subject to the just claim of loyal creditors, and to be held for the benefit of loyal citizens despoiled of property by the rebellion, and to defray the expenses incurred in its suppression. The bill also forfeits the claims of all rebels, and of those who give them aid and comfort, to the persons they hold in slavery. The bill declares that slaves thus forfeited shall be free, and makes it the duty of the President to provide for the colonization of such as may be willing to go to some tropical country where they may be secured in all the rights and privileges of freemen. The property belonging to traitors, or to those giving them aid and comfort, who may be convicted by judicial tribunals, is to be forfeited on their conviction, the real estate for life, and personal property forever.

Mr. Trumbull made a lengthy argument in support of the bill.

The bill was ordered to be printed, and referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Mr. Clark gave notice that he should offer an amendment to the fugitive slave bill.

The Senate went into executive session, and subsequently adjourned till Monday.

HOUSE.—The Speaker announced vacancies in several of the Standing Committees, which have been filled as follows:

Ways and Means—Hooper and Maynard. Judiciary—Wilson.

Territory—Steele.

Indian Affairs—Phelps, of California.

Public Buildings—Blair, of Virginia.

Military Affairs—Dunn.

Committee on the Establishment of a Western Army—Kellogg, of Illinois.

Pacific Railroad—Sargent.

Mr. Gurley offered a resolution, which was adopted, requesting the Committee on Judiciary to ascertain if a telegraphic censorship of the press had been established in this city, and if so, by whose authority, and by whom it is now controlled; also, if such censorship has not been used to restrain wholesome public criticism and discussion, while its professed and laudable object has been to withhold from the enemy information in relation to the movements of the army.

Mr. Stevens submitted a series of resolutions referring the various branches of the President's message to the appropriate committees.

Mr. Arnold moved that that part relating to the defenses and fortifications of the great lakes and harbors be referred to a select committee of nine members.

Mr. Gurley said that it was contended on one side that the great West and Northwest should not be ignored; and on the other, that the defense of the country was a section, but the whole country. The question was referred to a select committee. The resolutions were adopted, together with one introduced by Mr. Blair, of Missouri, referring that portion of the message in relation to sale of slaves taken from armed rebels, to a select committee of 7.

Mr. Blair's proposition for colonization was adopted. The Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, but was afterwards rejected by the House. The subject was then referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations.

Mr. Lovejoy, of Ill., introduced a bill proposing to repeal all laws requiring passes for persons of color going northward, to take immediate effect. Referred to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

Mr. Hickman introduced a bill providing for a board of commissioners to revise and codify the general Statutes of the United States. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Adjourned till Monday.

CAIRO, Dec. 5.

The Memphis Avalanche of the 2d inst., contains the following:

"A large body of Unionists attacked the Confederate forces at Morristown, East Tennessee, yesterday, killing a large number and completely routing them."

"Maj. Gen. George Crittenden has arrived at Hopkinsville to take command of the forces in that region."

"Gen. Rains had out Montgomery's forces to pieces, taking Montgomery prisoner. McCulloch had surrounded Segel at Sedalia. It was believed that the latter would be forced to surrender or be cut to pieces. Gen. Price had crossed Gasconade river, en route to St. Louis. The people were everywhere flocking to his support. It is believed he would have an army of sixty thousand before reaching St. Louis."

"Henry Fry and J. M. Hunter, Unionists, were hung at Granville, Tenn., on the 30th of November, for bridge burning."

"Charlesston, S. C., Nov. 20.—The patriotic planters on the seaboard are hourly applying the torch to their crops of cotton and rice along the coast. There is one sheet of flame and smoke."

"Many military companies of New Orleans are volunteering for thirty days at Columbus, Kentucky."

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.

A private letter from Port Royal states that one of the Quartermasters has, on his own responsibility, set about forty gins at work. The negroes, as an inducement to work, are to receive three cents per pound for all marketable cotton. They have gone into the business, it is reported, with enthusiasm.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—The Chamber of Commerce adopted a memorial requesting the President to send two or more armed vessels to the coast of Europe for the protection of our commerce against privateers.

Pierce L. Pierce was arrested here on application of the District Attorney of Boston, charged with fitting out the slave Bratus, from New Bedford.

Intelligence from Charleston says the blockade there is constantly violated by inland channels, E. Edisto, and the Mofitt or North channel. Vessels are certain of twelve feet of water in the latter. Within a few weeks the big West India and bark Nelson, with naval stores, also the schooner Gen. Ripley, with rice, arrived, besides others of less note. The steamer Isabel, thoroughly fitted up and loaded with 1,000 bales of cotton, together with the Prince of Wales, are waiting an opportunity to run out.

There are about 12,000 North and South Carolina and Georgia troops on the railroad to Savannah, and 5,000 in Charleston. Most of the South Carolina regiments are still in Virginia. Five gunboats are building at Charleston. They are confident at Charleston that they can gather forces enough to meet us at any point on the main land we may choose. The Bermuda brought 3,000 guns, of which Charleston got half. The Fingal brought 12,500 Enfield rifles, Percussion caps and rifled cannon, and other military equipments, are being made at Charleston. Provisions are said to be very scarce.

CAIRO, Dec. 5.

Special dispatches in the Memphis papers of the 2d give an account of a great battle at Morristown, East Tennessee, between the Federal forces under Parson Brownlow, and the rebels. They fought on the 1st of December, when the Federals were victorious. A rebel dispatch calls it the first Union victory of the war. Brownlow had 3,000 men. The rebel force was not ascertained. The rout of the rebels was total.

THE POSITION OF UTAH—BRIGHAM YOUNG'S PROPHECY.—Utah has substantially declared her independence as a State, and has taken the position of strict neutrality between the South and the North in the present contest. But it appears that the Delegate from that Territory will resume his seat in the Federal House of Representatives at the coming session. A statement from him as to the peculiar attitude and
